FOR THE SOLDIER, BY THE SOLDIER

Post soldier returns to entertain; Soldier Show plays at Buena HS Performing a variety of hits and classics for three shows, the 2000 U.S. Army Soldier Show sang and danced the theme "Seize the Day" at Buena High School in Sierra Vista.

Putting on shows Friday at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 2 and 7 p.m. the current crew thrilled audiences with numbers from such hit acts as Ricky Martin, Christina Aguilera, N'Sync and even a Soldier Show original.

Fort Huachuca was also represented in the cast by Spc. Krisandra Jackson, who is assigned to Headquarters Company, 306th Military Intelligence Battalion. "Auditions for the show were March 28 and we've been on tour since mid-May," she said.

"It's been excellent," Jackson said of the tour. "It's definitely an experience an entertainer should have — having close contact with other performers."

"We've come a long way, both as performers and in our performance," Jackson explained. "The best experience was on opening night at Fort Belvoir [Virginia].

"There was a tornado in the area — it didn't hit us, but we lost electricity," Jackson said. "Well, before the show there were a lot of children running around who had gone to the bathroom and such. They got lost in the dark. During our opening number we use these little electric candles, so we helped the parents find their children and help take them to the bathroom.

"We didn't get to put on the show that night," she added.

Coming back to Fort Huachuca has been great, Jackson said, and happened to be great timing also.

"It's changed a lot," Jackson said. "Not the place — I don't think Huachuca will ever really change — but all my friends have left. It's going to be weird when I come back. It's going to be like starting all over again.

"Also, everyone is moving into the new barracks soon. It was great timing, because I got to go to my room and get everything packed up," Jackson explained. "First sergeant [Michael Roberts, HQ/306th MI Bn.] said he'd get my stuff moved and I have a friend who'll look after everything for me. It's going to be interesting when I get back."

The soldiers with the Soldier Show end their performances Nov. 17, outprocess Nov. 18, and most will be back to their units by Nov. 19, Jackson said.

The Soldier Show is Jackson's third tour with Army Entertainment. "I was with the Army Express tour, I worked on the MWR concert series and now the Soldier Show."

Given this as her third experience, Jackson said performing and supporting Army Entertainment is a labor of love. "I love to entertain. There are a lot people out there who are surprised that there are soldiers out there doing what we do."

On her recent experiences, Jackson said she's grown in a couple of ways. "My social interaction skills have grown a lot. When you're around other people all the time, there's not a lot of time to yourself. You still have to work together and put on a good show. You learn how to interact well.

"My love for music has also grown," Jackson said. "Through all the little, petty fights you have — like any family, this is a family — you still have to perform. The music is the mission and it has to happen regardless of what happens off stage."

With just over a month left on tour, Jackson looks forward to returning to Fort Huachuca and getting back to the “real Army.”

“It will be nice to get off the road and be settled for a while,” she said. “But, I’m very grateful for this experience. I want to thank my command and unit for letting me go one more time. I know they didn’t want to let me go at first, but I couldn’t have done this without their eventual support.”

The modern Army Soldier Show originated in 1983 combining several soldier shows existing in different commands throughout the Army. The first Army Soldier Show was performed on Broadway in 1918 and was conceived by then-Sgt. Irving Berlin.

Today, the U.S. Army Soldier Show tours the continental United States and one overseas command each year, alternating between Korea and Europe.

Soldiers audition and are selected for the soldier show annually. The selected soldiers are assigned to the U.S. Army Entertainment Division for 179 days where they operate as a deployable military detachment under the leadership of the Army Entertainment first sergeant — a senior noncommissioned officer. They have to maintain military physical and appearance standards at all times.

The Soldier Show is not funded with tax dollars, but rather with money generated from Morale, Welfare and Recreation business operations and from generous corporate sponsorship.

Kristen Nichole Byrd, 18, can tell you how it feels to be “Up With People.”

The daughter of Rosa and Peter Byrd of Sierra Vista, and an Army brat born at the former Raymond W. Bliss Army Hospital, is getting ready to put on an act.

Byrd is a cast member in a musical production by Up with People — Special 35th Anniversary Homecoming Performance titled — “A Common Beat” in Tucson, Ariz. The production emphasizes cultural awareness through music, song, and dance and stresses individuals working together to make our world a better place to live by learning about people in other countries.

Byrd and her fellow actors and actresses will perform Sunday at 3 p.m., at the University of Arizona, McKale Center in Tucson

“My daughter, Kristen,” said Rosa Byrd, a MWR employee, “is a Buena High School Year 2000 graduate. She joined Up With People in July after seeing the group perform at the high school.” Up With People also performs community service acts (visits schools and talks to kids about drugs/visits senior citizens homes, etc).

Kristen Byrd

According to Mrs. Byrd, there is a message of “unity” in their songs. “With all the problems we have in this world, its refreshing to know there are young adults coming together from all over the world working toward a ‘positive’ goal and making a ‘positive’ difference,” she said.

Tickets for the one-time performance are available from the University’s McKale Ticket Office by calling 520/621-CATS 2287. Prices are $12 and $8 for adults, and $6 and $5 for children with a paid adult.

Mrs. Byrd said 100 percent of the ticket receipts would be used to benefit the Steele Memorial Children’s Research Center. “I encourage all of Sierra Vista to come out and support this worthwhile group of performers.”

REMEMBER THE TITANS
Walt Disney Pictures (Directed by: Boaz Yakin; Starring: Denzel Washington, Will Patton, Donald Faison, Wood Harris, Ryan Hurst, Ethe Seplee, Hayden

Panettiere, Kip Pardue.)
Rated PG: thematic elements and some language.
Family Factor: Thematic elements dealing with racism and some of the language may be disturbing to some younger viewers, but overall, a decent family film.
Denzel Washington has a power he brings to the screen. It’s very subtle. He dominates his roles and stands out in every film he does.
“Remember the Titans” is no exception. Washington powers through his role as Herman Boone — newly appointed head coach to the newly integrated Virginia high school T.C. Williams. His emotion is focused on football, but the African American leadership in the area is using him for something much more. By putting a black man in a prominent role in the area they hope to force their position to the white majority.

The film opens at football practice. Current head coach Bill Yoast is taking his team, The Titans, back to the field once again. Yoast is up for the local area’s hall of fame for coaching, but there’s about to be a monkey wrench thrown into his hard work.
He retreats from the field to his office and Boone is there waiting for him. He’s been hired as an assistant to Yoast, but after that night they learn that Boone’s been placed in the head coach position.
There’s a lot of initial resentment toward Boone and all of the African American athletes, but Boone works to eradicate those feelings during a two-week training camp that’s more boot camp than football camp. Boone integrates all the rooms and the boys are forced to deal with whatever race issues they may have.

There’s some fights in the beginning, and even Boone propagates bad feelings by forcing the boys to interact further. But by the end of training, they’ve become a cohesive team that relies on one another for support and friendship.

Unfortunately, as school starts, the players are faced with more racial prejudice as the rest of the high school hasn’t had the benefit of two-weeks of football camp. The team continues to fight for each other, but the pressures from the other students put a lot of stress on the students of both races. However, once the team begins winning game after game, everyone becomes more and more acclimated to the idea and many people’s opinions begin to change.
The movie is based on the real-life events that took place in 1971 in Virginia. Boone went undefeated that season, making his team the top “AAA” league team in the state of Virginia and the second ranked high school team in the nation.
Part of the film shows how through the sport of football, Boone, Yoast and others changed the attitudes of a city. There’s a lot of focus on race in the movie, but it also deals with football, teamwork and the indomitable human spirit.
There’s also a lot of tension between Boone and Yoast through the film. Boone has preconceived notions about Yoast and visa versa. As training continues and games

Today — THE REPLACEMENTS
- Keanu Reeves, Gene Hackman - A mismatched crew of outsiders get a second chance at greatness when they are recruited to play pro football after the regular team goes on strike. As they amaze everyone with their winning streak, the ragtag group discovers in itself the ability to dream bigger. (Some crude sexual humor, language). Rated PG-13.

Friday Oct. 6 and Wednesday Oct. 11 — AUTUMN IN NEW YORK - Richard Gere, Winona Ryder - Will is a master of no-commitment — until he meets Cahrlotte, a 21-year-old free spirit of life. Will indulges his interest in Charlotte, expecting yet another quick and easy romance until Charlotte expresses her belief that things absolutely can’t last. Will and Charlotte pursue an affair unlike any other. It is a season-long encounter that will shatter Will’s preconceptions about women, sex and responsibility as real love. (Language and some sensuality). Rated PG.

Saturday Oct. 7 — THE CELL - Jennifer Lopez, Vince Vaughn - A chld therapist involved in breakthrough research is asked to journey inside the mind of a comatose killer in the hope of saving his latest victim. As she embarks on an uncharted and perilous journey through the psyche of a murderer, an FBI agent must race against time to uncover clues that may help locate the missing girl. (Bizarre violence, sexual imagery, violence). Rated R.

Sunday Oct. 8 — GLADIATOR - Russell Crowe, Joaquin Phoenix - In AD 180, when a cruel new Emporer of Rome, Commodus, takes power, he strips the rank from Maximus, one of the favored generals of his predecessor and father, the great stoic philosopher-king, Marcus Aurelius. Relegated to fighting in the gladiator arenas to the death lest he challenge Commodus for the emporer, can this former leader of men survive long enough to break his chains and wreak his vengeance on his mortal enemy, the man who rules Rome? (Intense graphic combat). Rated R.

are won, Yoast learns more and more from Boone — eventually swallowing his pride and accepting help from the coach. If the films trailers are to be believed, it says the real Boone and Yoast are still friends today.
The film contains elements of humor, which help to ease you through some difficult subject matter, but even with the humor the film pulls no punches dealing with attitudes of the time. It’s scary to realize that this was only 30 years ago.
Wonderful acting, cinematography, story and character development, propel this film to greatness. I give the film — Validity scale (its validity as a film): four-and-one-half football helmets and balls; New movie scale (value of seeing it in the theater): four helmets and balls.

Morale, Welfare, Recreation Welcomes New SEA

The Directorate of Morale, Welfare and Recreation is pleased to welcome Master Sgt. Vickie Carr, as our new Senior Enlisted Advisor. Carr reported to duty at Fort Huachuca on September 13. She joins us from the 7th Signal Brigade, Mannheim, Germany, where she served as an Equal Opportunity Advisor.

Carr's previous duty stations over the last seventeen and a half years include Fort Hood, Texas; Fort Eustis, Virginia; Fort Polk, Louisiana; Fort Knox, Kentucky, Bad Kreuznach Kaserne, Germany and Two tours at Camp Casey, South Korea.

Other positions she has held include Primary Leadership and Development Course Instructor and Executive Secretary which was her most challenging position, it entailed managing the office for three generals.

Her military occupation specialty as a 71 L (administrative specialist) and her rank, provide her the opportunity of senior enlisted advisor. She will be working as the liaison between civilians and the military.

She will also be the Better Opportunities for Single Soldiers advisor.

Shreveport, Louisiana is where Carr calls home. She is not the only one in her family who has made the military a career. She has five brothers and one sister who are all also in the Armed Forces or retired from the Military. She joined the Army not to be outdone by them.

Carr is not only a career soldier, she is a devoted mother of two daughters; Shamonica who is a freshman at Grambling State University, Louisiana and Tasha who is a freshman at Buena High School.

Even though her career and family keep her very busy, Vickie has obtained a BA in Liberal Arts from Regents University, and a Masters in Human Relations from the University of Oklahoma. She is also an active member of the Sergeant Audie Murphy Club and Sergeant Morales Club.

In her spare time, Carr enjoys spending time with her children, reading, running and volunteering with the youth ministry within her church. Occasionally she even gets a chance to pamper herself with a manicure and pedicure.

Military personnel with questions, concerns, or inquiries on MWR facilities please contact Carr. "Team MWR" is proud to welcome Carr and her family to Fort Huachuca.

Don't Miss the Miller Lite Comics on Duty to perform at LaHacienda in one week!

Last week you met Jeff Capri and Tim Jones, now we would like to introduce you to Andres Fernandez and Gary Lazer the remaining two comedians that will be performing one week from Friday.

Andres Fernandez exploded onto the New York comedy scene five years ago. With a fresh brand of humor that was universal in appeal, Andres broke down barriers of what an audience expected from a Latino comic. Drawing from experiences with his Cuban father and his own mixed marriage to a Greek wife,

Andres charms the audience with his story telling ability. Fluent in Spanish, he has performed as a member of the Copa Comedy Troupe at the Copacabana, a sketch player in "El Barrio" at Caroline's, and a legit stage actor with the Puerto Rican Repertory Theatre. Classically trained at the William Esper Studios, Andres combines his love for acting with his stand-up comedy to produce an amusing blend of hilarity and reality. His act is receiving critical praise as well, with a recent review noting "Andres Fernandez kept the flow of laughs steady, but what truly cemented his acceptance was that the ethnic humor never invaded poor taste or the mean-spirited. Fernandez is a quality act to be sure." With stand-up appearances on NBC's "Friday Night", Showtime's "Latino Laugh Festival" as well as the starring role in the UPN/Paramount

sitcom pilot, "An American Family."

If Gary Lazer had to rely on his looks to get laughs, he'd likely starve. The handsome, 6'4" actor/comedian takes command of the stage with the finesse of a young Cary Grant or Gregory Peck...until he opens his mouth. Then, he relies on his inherent ability to "fix" just about anything, his fear of digital doohickies, his outrage at rude drivers and his phobia of being sucked out of an airplane while sitting beside a nonsmoker, to bring his audience to their feet.

Waiting tables while waiting his turn at an open mike, it wasn't long before his friends convinced him that LA was where he belonged. It was... and it is. Since then, Gary Lazer's television appearances have included Comic Strip Live, Evening at the Improv, Stand-Up Spotlite and Half Hour Comedy Hour as well as guest shots on Murphy Brown, Baby Talk and a regular role on Shades of L.A. Film roles include White Men Can't Jump and I Think I'm Gonna Like It Here.

But live, with a mike in his hand and an audience in his pocket is where Gary truly shines. If laughter really is the best medicine, Dr. Lazer is on duty, prescribing hilarity by the megadose. Remember only one week left to get advance tickets. Come out and join us on October 13, it's going to be a great show.

Gary Lazer

Fishing Report

By Rory Aikens
Arizona Game and Fish Dept.

SOUTHERN WATERS

TUCSON URBAN - The urban lakes were stocked last week with channel catfish. Due to very low oxygen levels, Lakeside has experienced an almost total fish kill. Lakeside is not scheduled to be stocked until the oxygen level stabilizes at normal levels. Catfishing at Silverbell and Kennedy has been good. Buy a two-pole stamp and try different baits to double your chances.

RIGGS FLAT - Is stocked with rainbow. Fishing is good. Check with the Forest Service, Safford Ranger District, for camping and fire restrictions at (520) 428-4150.

CLUFF RANCH - Slow for warm water species, although some crappie and bass are being caught. For lake information call (520) 485-9430.

ROPER LAKE - Slow for bass, and catfish. For largemouth bass try fishing jigs along the breaks and outside edges of the cattails. Good for sunfish; use worms in shady areas. For lake information call (520) 428-6760.

DANKWORTH POND - Poor for all species. For lake information call (520) 428-6760.

ARIVACA - The oxygen level is not stable and the lake is experiencing some fish kills. Surveys show fair numbers of small bass, but almost no fish exceeding 12 inches. No other fish stockings are planned until the water quality stabilizes. Due to elevated mercury readings in the warm water species, (bass, sunfish and catfish) it is recommended that these fish not be eaten until further notice. Catch and release should be practiced.

PENA BLANCA - Fishing is fair to good for bass, best fishing at night. Recent surveys show a healthy bass population with good numbers of fish in the 15 to 18-inch range. Use artificial worms in rocky areas where the aquatic vegetation is less dense for largemouth bass. The weeds have been cut, so fishing access has improved. Due to elevated mercury readings in the warm water species (bass, sunfish, crappie and catfish), it is recommended that these fish not be eaten until further notice. Catch-and-release should be practiced. For lake information call (520) 281-2296.

PATAGONIA - Fishing is fair to good for warm water species; bass, sunfish and catfish. Best fishing is early morning, late evening and at night. Recent surveys show excellent populations of bass and sunfish. Try artificial crayfish or worms close to the shore at breaks in the cattails. Try worms in shady areas for large bluegill and redear sunfish. Crappie fishing is fair. Channel catfish are biting on worms, hotdogs or stink bait. For lake information call (520) 287-6063.

PARKER CANYON - Fishing is slow for warm water species (bass, catfish and sunfish). Try artificial worms or night crawlers. Lots of small northern pike in the 12 to 15-inch range are being caught. Try flies, corn, worms, and Power Bait, crankbaits and spinner baits. The limit is six northern pike. Anglers are encouraged to try to catch this illegally introduced species. The water level is rising, boat launching is not a problem. For lake information call (520) 455-5847.

PICACHO RESERVOIR - Due to extremely low water conditions Picacho Reservoir has experienced a fish kill.

ROSE CANYON LAKE - Is scheduled to be stocked with rainbow trout this week. Fishing is good. For lake and camping information call (520) 749-8700.

Road races coming to close, next race Friday

By Sgt. Cullen James
Scout Staff

Fort Huachuca’s Intramural Road Race series closes Friday with the last run, a six-miler.

The second race, held Friday at 5:45 a.m. was a four miler, and the first was a two-miler held Sept. 22.

Taking the top spot in the four-mile course was Spc. Lee Millett from Company D, 86th Signal Battalion with a time of 25 minutes, 6 seconds.

“I love to run,” Millett said. “I haven’t really run much recently, mostly just Army running for [physical training], but I used to run cross country in junior high. I’ve always loved it.”

Millett placed fourth in the two-mile run, but looks forward to the six-miler. “I’ve already committed myself to this — I gotta do it,” he said.

Millett got involved in the Road Races because his unit’s team needed a captain.

“I decided to fill the slot,” he explained.

On his chances in the six-miler, Millett talked about the four-mile run. “This was a good time for me,” he said.

“I don’t usually run that hard, and at about the last quarter mile I though I was going to die. But like I said, I’m committed to it, so I’m going to do my best,” he added.

The Intramural Road Races kicked off the 2000-2001 Commander’s Cup series of sports events. The flag football season is also part of the Cup series. For more information on upcoming Commander’s Cup events, stop by the Sports Office at Barnes Field House, or call 533-3180.
